The United States exercises partial legislative jurisdiction over the Naval Supply Depot, Richmond, Contra Costa County. By letter dated October 14, 1998 the Department of the Navy has requested California accept a retrocession of all partial legislative jurisdiction over this facility and to establish concurrent legislative jurisdiction.

California Government Code Section 113 authorizes the State Lands Commission to accept such a retrocession if the following conditions, among others, are met:

1. The United States has in writing requested that the State accept a retrocession of jurisdiction;

2. The State Lands Commission has held a public hearing to determine whether it is in the State’s best interests to accept the retrocession; and

3. The United States has agreed to pay for the costs associated with the retrocession process.

The United States has made the written request for the retrocession and has agreed to bear the costs associated with the retrocession.

The Commission staff has conducted the required hearing after notice was given to the Contra County Board of Supervisors and the Richmond City Council and... published in the local newspaper. No comments in objection to the retrocession were received at the hearing or at any other time.

The City of Richmond supports the retrocession. The United States Department of Justice and the United States Attorney for the Northern District of California support this request.

Commission staff recommends that the retrocession of partial legislative jurisdiction and the establishment of concurrent legislative jurisdiction at the Naval Supply Depot be made.
